Buck or Cross-Cut Saw?

We have found that for several years in the month of November our sales of Buck and Cross Cut Saws were double those of any other three months.

Whether this is due to the approach of the wood sawing season or because at this time we offer exceptional values in saws we don't know, probably both. Any way our values should appeal to you. This is the way prices run on our Atkin's Buck and Cross Cut saws:

Buck Saws, 50c, 85c, 90c $1.25

Cross Cut Saws, $1.50, $1.75,

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The annual report of the chief of police of Rutland shows that the police of that city made 611 arrests during 1906. Of these 461 arrests of respondents put in all 461 answers to the charge of intoxication. Thenceforward on the line north of 1905 with 397 arrests and 443 drunk and of 1904 with 388 arrests in which 243 charges of intoxication were preferred.

It is currently reported that parties in Vergennes are intending to establish a new telephone exchange at an early day to connect with the new company at Rutland. Other exchanges are contemplated at convenient places on the line north and south of that city early next summer. The new company will reduce rates considerably from that now charged by the New England company and its allies, if the deal goes through as contemplated.

The friends and members of the G.
A. R. and W. R. C. tendered a reception to Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Bruce of Randolph in Edson's hall on the evening of their 20th wedding anniversary, Monday night, December 31. In spite of the inclemency of the weather there was a large number present and the old couple were made happy by the gifts and remembrances of their friends. Those out of town who attended the event were Mrs. Frank Williams and two daughters of Holyoke, Mass., Mrs. Charles Clough of Ashland, N. H., and Edward Bruce and family of Hinsdale, N. H. Mrs. Walter Sprague and son of East Randolph.

Carrier Thomas Halloran of Bennington Monday night completed a 16 years service in the employ of the government. He received his appointment in December, 1889, and with two other carriers assumed his duties January 1, 1890. He was at once assigned to the outside district on which he has continued ever since. The route is 25 miles long and takes in the Bennington Central district. He drives two single horses and during the sixteen years of his service he has lost but two days from sickness or unavoidable absence. Halloran is a native of Battleboro but has lived in Bennington since a small boy.

GOLD LURE OF DEATH VALLEY.

The Murderous Sands With Their Trails, Springs and Hidden Mines.

While gold seems to be the underlying cause of the great interest taken in Death valley, yet a mysterious fascination takes possession of all who once behave its dangers. Numberless legends have been handed down from generation to generation of strange happenings almost beyond human explanation, yet at the bottom of all runs the streak of gold for which men daily sell their lives and oftentimes their very souls.

Old Indian trails and signs still point the way from spring to spring, telling whether the water is good or bad, the distance from one to the other, the passable and impassable canyons, the location of old Indian villages, etc. In order to read the signs correctly one must be familiar with their ways and customs, and even then it has been difficult on account of changes that are constantly taking place through natural and human agencies.

The trails are of different periods, some being much later than others. At intervals beside the trails are monuments of stone, with pointed rock showing the direction to take. Two rocks pointed in opposite directions indicate that it is impossible. The location of metal stones is also significant. A metal stone is a flat stone, followed in the center, used for grinding acorns for flour which will be found not more than half a day's travel from water. Many springs known to the Indians are not down on the maps. Endeavoring to find a pass through the mountains on a recent trip, a party followed the Indian trail and signs and found a course which passed three springs and some old broadwork which Indians had used to hide behind when lying in wait for mountain sheep.

One of the first gold excitements was back in the '50s, when Breyfogle found fine gold, but was unable to return to the exact spot. He was afterward succeeded by a party of Indians, which he supposed to have injured his brain. Beatty had expressed the opinion that the Breyfogle find was between Willow Springs and the Original Bullfrog. "Charlie" Nyman thinks it is between Keene Springs, Willow Springs and Death valley, while one of Breyfogle's party, described a hole-in-rock, The windbreaks are located about 18 miles south of Rhyolite. Another legend is of an Indian who went into Cerro Gordo with a rock full of free gold, which he sold for $8. The white men tried to get him to tell where he found it, but the Indian was wise and kept its location to himself. He was accidentally killed a short time after while hunting sheep, and the secret died with him. Some think this find was the same as Breyfogle's.

The valley itself is about all that it has been painted. At times a man or beast would wade out of sight, and at other times the shifting sands would almost bury him alive. Yet men live there year after year without feeling that they are incurring any unusual amount of danger. They know where they may and may not go and how to prepare for emergencies.—Rhyolite Herald.

SLAUGHTERING HOGS.

A Convenient Butchering Outfit, Easily Made.

The finest hogs must finally die, and to dress them before the season gets late and the market is glutted is often wiser. Many farmers dread butchering time because of the hard lifting and long hours of labor. Most of this is unnecessary and due to lack of preparation and inconvenience.

A derick for raising the hogs and hanging the pork and a butchering outfit here outlined are readily put togeth-

DERICK FOR RAISING HOGS.

er by any one who is handy with tools and will get a few bolts and irons at the blacksmith shop. Even a beef may be hung up by the arrangement shown.
This derick is made of three timbers, each thirteen feet long. The roller for the rope may be made of a round stick four inches in diameter. It is worked smaller where it is clamped to the derrick. An iron rod passed loosely through auger holes in the derick can be used as a brake to hold the cranks when the rope is wound up enough.

The illustrations tell their own story. says a writer in American Agricultur-ist. The scalding tub, table and hangers may be set near the derick. The hoist thus places the pigs in the tub.

CONVENIENT SCALDING VAT.

The outfit is readily taken down and laid in a wagon to borrow or lend.
The whole thing should be bolted together so it cannot slip and in such manner that it will never need nailing.
The crossbars for hanging should be five to seven inches thick.

A Great Consideration.

"I do," answered the publisher. "I know of no one else whose literary style approaches his."

symptoms common to the sex. Fathers
